He Says the Ordinance is an Unjust Discrimination in Favor of the Local Syndicate -Burton Trial-Other Cases.

Judge Brown yesterday rendered his decision in the brewery license case. The Council passed an ordinance some time ago placing a $1,000 license on breweries doing business in this city. The provisions of the ordinance were such that the Indianapolis Brewing Company was only compelled to pay $1,000 for all three of its houses, while the agencies of the outside concerns were compelled to pay that amount for each depot established. The outside brewerles formed a combination to fight the ordinance and test its legality in the courts. It was agreed that the fight should be made in the name of Jacob Bieler, agent for the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Company, of St. Louis. The decision rendered by Judge Brown yesterday is to the effect that, under the Wilson law, the State has the power to regulate the licensing and sale of liquors, and that it can also delegate that power to the city, to be exercised by it the same as by the State, so long as the city in its execution of this power makes the burden the same upon local as upon foreign conjust discrimination in favor of the Indianapolis Brewing Company; it is a discrimination between the wholesalers and the bottlers in favor of the latter and against those selling in jugs, barrels, kegs, etc. It exempts resident wholesalers of bottled beer from its exactions, and this exception is held to be palpably unconstitutional. The taxing power cannot be used by municipal corporations for the building up and protection of their home markets. If such a power exists it is only in the general government. The ordinance contained no provision by which it could be enforced against the Indianapolis Brewing Compaby, and if that corporation saw fit to resist the payment of the tax assessed against it the city had no way in which it could enforce the payment. The decision holds that the city's power of legislation is limited by charter, and that it can pass only such laws or ordinances as are provided for in the charter. The charter grants to the city the power to tax, regulate and license breweries and distilleries, but does not grant the power to license the carrying on of the business of brewing or distilling. The ordinance was held to be invalid on account of its discrimination in favor of the Indianapohe Brewing Company.

In General Term.

About two years ago Isaac Kerlin was killed in a wreck on the Panhandle at Ko komo. Kerlin was a baggagemaster on the Panhandle, and the evidence showed that, as he was leaving on the trip on which he was killed, he handed an agent of the National Accident Association $30 as payment for one year's premium on a policy in the company. The agent owed Kerlin $10, and took but $20 of the amount, saying he would pay the balance bimself. The company's defense is that the payment of the premium was not reported to them. The case has been tried twice before Judge Harper, the plaintiff winning each time, but the case was reversed both times by the general term. It will now be taken to the Supreme Court.

The case of Harry McHenry, in which he recovered judgment against the L. E. & W. before Judge Harper was reversed. Most of the cases involving claims against the State have been continued until the

The Evidence All In. In the Burton murder trial the evidence was all in by noon yesterday. Burton was put on the stand during the morning, and denied everything. He said when he left the room McBride and Clayton were both in the room. He went from the gamblingroom to his aunt's, where he staid several days on account of sickness. From his aunt's he was driven in a buggy Jolietville. When he returned to the city he again went to his aunt's house, where he met his father, who told him that he was accused of murdering Clayton. He sent for his attorneys, McCullough & Spaan, and, upon their advice, surrendered himself to the police. The argument was begun yesterday afternoon. Prosecutor Holtzman for the State, and McCullough for the defense occupied all the time. Attorney Spaan will conclude for the defense this morning. A bevy of pretty girls, relatives of Burton, sat beside him during the day.

Argued Their Own Cases,

Justice Daniels's court was yesterday the scene of a very unique trial. David Yates had Jas. Cook arrested upon a capias alleging that Cook owed him $8 on a trade and was about to leave for Kansas. Constable Sorters found Cook standing at the postoffice corner and arrested him. Yates was waiting at the squire's office for the defend-ant to be brought in. Both parties acted as their own attorneys, examined witnesses forgred law points to the court and petti-fogged in high glee. Notwithstanding the eloquent speech made by Cook in his own behalf the case was decided against him, the court finding that he owed Yates the sum of $8. He accepted the judgment of the court without a word, paid the amount with costs, and invited the crowd, constable, witnesses, opposing afterney and all to take a drink with him.

Entitled to a Lien. Judge Brown yesterday decided the case of Lulu Reed vs. David Reed, in which Luiu sued for support. The parties were married against the wishes of David's mother, and their marriage was not generally known. David's mother, Mary Love, died and left some real estate, which David. representing himself as single, mortgaged under the name of Love and left the city. Recently he has been trying to sell the mortgaged property through a real-estate agent of this city. His wife, becoming cognizant of the facts, brought suit against him for support, endeavoring to reach the real estate. Judge Brown decided that she was David's wife and that she was entitled to a lien upon the property subject to the mortgage.

Motton Was Not Filed The motion for a change of venue from Marion county, which was to have been filed yesterday by the contestants in the McDonald will case, was not filed. The reason alleged for the failure to file the motion was that Clerk Schley, when asked by the attorneys about the matter, informed them that there was a le of court requiring such motion to be ade before a case was set for trial. The ttorneys will test

Alleged Authentic Report that the Anti-Option Bill Will Never Pass the Senate Caused a Late Advance of 2 5-8 Cents.

TRADING AT CHICAGO. Corn Gained Nearly 2 Cents, Followed by

Oats and Pork, CHICAGO, June 7 .- Wheat was nervous and unsettled, with rather sudden and violent fluctuations. The opening was at about yesterday's closing figures to be lower, but the market was weak and a decline of lo was soon recorded. This was a continuation of the weakness developed yesterday, when it became known that the anti-option bill had been passed by the House of Representatives. There was a feeling of uncertainty and anxiety and some long wheat came on the market. Some favorable crop reports from the springwheat belt in the Northwest and an increased acreage, with favorable advices from winter wheat in Kansas added to the weakness. Later, on advices from Washington that there was no possibility that Hatch bill would pass the Senate, together with less favorable reports from France and Russia as to crops, there was a sharp rally of 21sc, but a recession of 34c on sales by the longs to realize profits followed. Then rumors of unfavorable Ohio and Missourt crop reports seared the shorts, and, in the scramble to cover prices were advanced 24c, leaving the close firm at an advance of 2%c over yesterday. Corn was active and unsettled. The close was firm at 1% @1%c advance over

MONEY, STOCKS AND GRAIN | BUSINESS DIRECTORY

New York Stocks Quiet but Coalers Still Remained Under the Hammer.

Burlington Felt the Full Force of the Drive -In Indianapolis All Cereals Were Firmer, with Wheat and Corn Higher.

THE BOND MARKET.

St. Louis & Kansas City Firets Toledo. Headed the List of Losers. At New York, yesterday, money on call was easy at 1@11/2 per cent., the last loan being made at 11/2, closing offered at 11/2 per cent. I rime mercantile paper, 24 @5 per cent.

Sterling exchange strong at $4.874 for sixty-day vills and $4.88 for demand. The total sales of stocks included the following: Louisville & Nashville, 4,500; Missouri Pacific, 6,418; Northern Pacific and Northern Pacific preferred, 10,345; New England, 3,470; Reading, 50,100; St. Paul, 41,565; Union Pacific, 14,64 ; Western Union,

The stock market was quiet, but the coalers were still under the hammer, and good buying of the grangers, which made its appearance, brought transactions up to a respectable figure and gave the market an animated feeling. The strength displayed under the demand from the shorts, and the foreign buyers who bought more than they sold was something of a surprise to the bear faction, and when a continuation of yesterday's decline was repeated, positive strength was seen. Reports from the West went to show that the late stories of damage and the backwardness of the season have been much exaggeraged, and there was apparent a decided disposition to venture into the market on the long side, which the rumors of the late heavy purchases in St. Paul by the insiders did much to encourage. There was, however, little or no feature in the dealings outside of the coalers and grangers, even the industrials taking a backward position in the market and remained void of interest throughout the day. The prices attained were generally well held until the last hour, when there was another determined drive at the list. Burlington felt the full force of the assault, and it was driven down over 1 per cent. from best tignres. The final changes showed considerable irregularity, though advances are in a majority. The trading reached 256,987 listed and 10,376 unlisted. Railroad bonds were quiet and displayed an irregular temper. While most issues traded in are only slightly changed, if at all, there was a few marked losses and gains among the inactive bonds. The transactions footed up only $1,305,000. Toledo, St. Louis & Kansas city firsts lost 414 and others smaller amounts. Government bonds were dull and steady.

State bonds were entirely neglected. Of the seven banks of Indianapolis but five are in the Clearing-house Association. Until day before yesterday this associaclearings then gave an approximate idea of the financial transactions of Indianapolis trade through the banks. The withdrawal of the Indiana National, one of the largest banks, from the association will make future exhibits of the clearinghouse of little or no value. The clearings of the five remaining banks, yesterday, amounted to $563,487.52; balances, $45.425.58. For the corresponding date in 1891 the clearings amounted to $755,024.52; balances, $68,132.5.
